

“She’s Always THE Woman”
by Michael J. Quigley, BSI
Toast given in honor of “THE Woman”
at the Sons of the Copper Beeches, 21 April 2017

(to the tune “Always A Woman to Me” by Billy Joel)

She has the voice of an angel
A face men might die for.
She was wronged by a king, who she never asked more of.
And she only reveals what she wants you to see
She hid the photo
But she’s always THE woman to me

She can follow you home
She can walk right behind you
She will wish you goodnight
You thought she’d never find you.
And she’ll leave you a photo and then cross the sea.
Yeah, she looks good in pants
But she’s always THE woman to me

[Chorus:]
Oh, she outwitted the best
He can say what he wants
Holmes was out of his depth.
Oh, and she married for love.
In sickness and health
Godfrey Norton til death.

She was born in New Jersey
And might have been Queen.
But the King quickly dropped her
T’was a miserable scene.
But she’s not on his “level”
He’s the worst that can be
Blame it all on yourself
Cause she’s always THE woman to me

A Sherlockian Toast (posted 2017-4-24)

[Chorus:]

Oh, she outwitted the best
He can say what he wants
Holmes was out of his depth.
Oh, and she married for love.
In sickness and health
Godfrey Norton til death.

She eclipses her sex,
She is clever and cool.
She can do as she pleases
She's nobody's fool
But she can't be convicted
'Caus she crossed the sea!
And the most you can do
Is throw smoke-bombs and coo!
But she's always THE woman to me
