

A Sherlockian Toast (posted 2025-5-4)

A Toast to Grant Munro (The Yellow Face)
By Regina Stinson
for the Ribston-Pippins meeting dated: May 17, 2023

You're right, Jack, you are not a very good man. Although your wife loved you and gave you all her money, you suspected her the minute she asked for any of it and insisted on knowing what it was for. Her reluctance to tell you led to further suspicion on your part and you finally went to Holmes for advice. The explanation of events you presented to Holmes led him to suspect the worst. You finally forced the situation rather than allowing your wife to tell you in her own time. Then when you finally discovered the truth, you waited 2 long minutes, (or was it 10), To embrace the child and attempt to vindicate yourself!

I'm glad you finally came to your senses, but even 2 minutes seems like a long time to think about it.

Here's to you, you moron!
